HEALTH, SAFETY, SECURITY AND ENVIRONMENT POLICY

For ethical reasons, GEOSTOCK constantly sets Health, Safety, Security, Environmental protection and prevention of major accident as its priority aims in all its activities, whether as designer, constructor or operator.

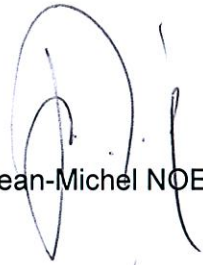

Every employee, at all levels, pledges his or her personal responsibility to seeking and implementing every means to eliminate the causes of accidents, within the minimum framework of the regulations in force. This rule of action must always take precedence over any other consideration, technical or economic.

The capacity for permanently integrating Health, Safety, Security, Environmental protection and prevention of major accident constitutes one of the decisive parameters for assessing everyone's performance.

GEOSTOCK's achievement as regards Health, Safety, Security, Environmental protection and prevention of major accident is a major element in the quality of its services. In this respect, they must be irreproachable throughout the production process, whether it is a matter of GEOSTOCK's own actions or those of its suppliers, sub-contractors and companies which it has to supervise the services. Whatever the contractual framework for its intervention, GEOSTOCK has a duty to alert and advise its clients in the area of Health, Safety, Security, Environmental protection and prevention of major accident.

It is GEOSTOCK's permanent intention to progress in the area of Health, Safety, Security, Environmental protection and prevention of major accident, in particular by conducting training and auditing activities, by participating in the work of competent professional bodies, by adapting its internal organization to the requirements of safety, by setting up suitable procedures and actions to meet any possible accidents, and by building effective partnership with the Public Authorities.

GEOSTOCK requires from every employee that he or she, actively and unreservedly, strictly and with perseverance, takes part in these actions, which must be noted for their exemplary nature and excellence.
